Baby orangutan born at Chester Zoo 'is a girl'

OUR LATEST NEWS & EVENTS

- Rare baby Sumatran orangutan is named Kesuma
- Zookeepers reveal her name translates to 'flower' in Indonesian
- Kesuma is a big boost to the international breeding programme for critically endangered Sumatran orangutans
- Orangutans are on the edge of extinction as their forest home is destroyed to make way for unsustainable palm oil plantations
- Zoo conservationists are fighting to protect wild orangutans in South East Asia

Chester Zoo reveals its latest orangutan arrival has been named Kesuma by primate keepers.

Chester Zoo's rare newborn Sumatran orangutan has been named Kesuma, which means 'flower' in Indonesia.

The name was chosen by the zoo's team of primate keepers soon after they were able to confirm the newcomer's gender.

Kesuma was born to mum Emma in December in what was a major success story for an acclaimed international breeding programme for the highly threatened species.

Sumatran orangutans are listed as critically endangered by the International Union for the Conservation of Nature (IUCN) with recent estimates suggesting just 6,500 remain in the wild.

Tim Rowlands, Curator of Mammals at the zoo, said:

"Emma's baby girl Kesuma is her fifth youngster and she's such a good mum. She's incredibly attentive and it's wonderful to see her and her latest arrival forging close bonds.

"She's an incredibly important arrival for the conservation breeding programme and can hopefully throw a spotlight on the huge pressures that her cousins are facing in the wild."

The Sumatran orangutan is one of the world's most endangered great apes. It is among the many species being pushed to the brink of extinction in South East Asia by hunting, forest clearance and the planting of oil palm plantations, which are destroying vast areas of rainforest.

There is intense demand for the oil, which features in all sorts of every day products in the UK from food to cleaning materials and cosmetics.

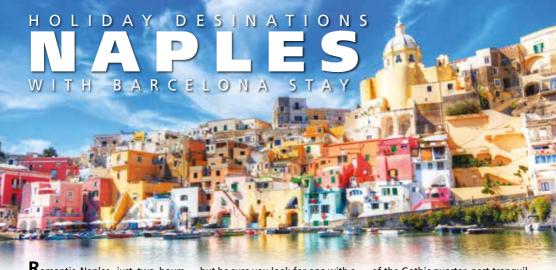

Chester Zoo is currently leading a major new campaign to make Chester the world's first 'Sustainable Palm Oil City.' Zoo conservationists are working with restaurants, cafes, hotels, fast food outlets, schools and workplaces in the city to introduce sustainable palm oil policies into their supply chain. The campaign is striving to increase the use of palm oil that is produced sustainably and help to protect the rainforests of South East Asia.

Chester Zoo is currently the only zoo in mainland Britain which cares for Sumatran orangutans.

Sumatran Orangutan Facts

- Kesuma was born early in the morning of Monday 18 December
- The new arrival is the fifth for mum Emma (age 30)
- Dad is named Puluh (30)

Romantic Naples, just two hours south of Rome, is the largest city in southern Italy. It has some of the world's best opera houses and theatres, and is often called an open-air museum, because of its many historic statues and monuments. Join families on promenade as the sun sets on the Bay of Naples. View finds from Pompeii and Herculaneum, destroyed by Mount Vesuvius in A.D. 79, at the Museo Archeologico Nazionale or revel in the art and architecture of Museo Cappella Sansevero, built in the late 1500s.

Visiting a city such as Naples means, of course, a diverse schedule of sightseeing; exploring its museums, art galleries, and nicest streets for strolling. While a week would do this phenomenal city more justice, one day is still enough to get lost in the alleys of its Spanish quarters (and observe the genuine life of the Neapolitans), enjoy a fantastic pizza, and relax in a prestigious coffee spot such as Gambrinus. Be prepared to get up very early and put on your running shoes!

Naples has very good public transportation and lots of traffic problems so it's best to avoid having a car. The city has a large but crowded bus network, trams, a subway, funiculars, and a suburban train line, the Ferrovia Circumvesuviana, that will get you to Herculaneum, Pompeii, and Sorrento.

Pizza, one of Italy's most famous foods, originated in Naples and pizza is taken very seriously here. You'll find lots of great pizza places but be sure you look for one with a wood-burning oven!

Eggplant Parmesan originated in Naples and spaghetti also became popular in Naples, try it with clams or mussels. Seafood is abundant and very good in Naples.

Naples gets guite hot in summer so spring and fall are probably the best times to visit. Since Naples is near the coast, it's more temperate in winter than interior cities of

As you are only in Naples for 1 whole day from the ship, enjoy the other great places such as your stay in Barcelona.

See the best of Barcelona on a private sightseeing tour, which offers a comprehensive view of this exquisite Catalan city and includes skip-the-line access at La Sagrada Familia, a popular attraction that often has long lines. Perfect for first-time visitors, the tour will show you the city's most iconic sights and allow you to discover some of Barcelona's best-kept secrets. You'll also visit the hill of Montjuïc and the Gothic Quarter, and you can upgrade to the fullday tour to include visits to Park Guell and La Pedrera. Accompanied by your own private guide, you'll enjoy personalized attention on this special private tour.

Barcelona's architectural treasures span 2000-plus years. Towering temple columns, ancient city walls and subterranean stone corridors provide a window into Roman-era Barcino. Fast forward a thousand years to the Middle Ages by taking a stroll through the shadowy lanes of the Gothic quarter, past tranquil plazas and soaring 14th-century cathedrals. In other parts of town bloom the sculptural masterpieces of Modernisme, a mix of ingenious and whimsical creations by Gaudí Catalan architectural and his contemporaries. Barcelona has also long inspired artists, including Salvador Dalí, Pablo Picasso and Joan Miró, whose works are in bold display in the city's myriad museums.

Barcelona is an enchanting seaside city with boundless culture, fabled architecture, and a world-class drinking and dining scene.

CHESTER TOWN HALL will be the venue for a Fine Art Extravaganza in June.

Local artist and lecturer Sue Farrington is excited about the two-day event which will present an opportunity for the public to buy pieces of original work direct from artists.

"I teach oil painting in the North West of England," said Sue. "Over many years I have become increasingly aware of the need for artists to be able to show and sell their work directly to the public. So many of these fabulous artists have fabulous original paintings that rarely get seen.

"Art is for everyone - by joining local Art Groups, Art Classes and Art Societies or visiting galleries and exhibitions. It opens up a whole new world whatever your age.

"I have enlisted 34 other eager professional and amateur artists to display and sell their original work.

"The Fine Art Extravaganza is a two-day event which will take place on June 2 and 3, between 10.30am and 6pm on both days."

Sue specialises in oil painting and has lived, taught and exhibited in Australia, New Zealand, Borneo, Malaysia and the Philippines. It was in Borneo where Sue attended Art College.

She studied for her teaching qualification at Darwin University in the company of jackaroos, jillaroos, outback prison officers and nurses while her late husband was working on the construction of the Alice Springs to Darwin Railway Bridges.

In complete contrast her previous occupation was Piping Process Works Administrator on the installation of a new Nuclear Reactor vessel in Engadine Sydney.

Returning to the UK in 2005, Sue worked at Burton Manor, and West Cheshire College, in Handbridge, Chester.

Sue currently teaches in Chester, at Caldy Valley Church Centre, Okell's Garden Centre, Tarporley, and at the Altrincham Art Society, Manchester, and is a member of Chester's Grosvenor

Art Society who hold regular exhibitions, demonstrations and workshops.

She also demonstrates and runs successful oil painting workshops throughout the North West and North Wales, exhibiting and selling with Silver Star Gallery.

During the English winter Sue returns to paint and exhibit in Perth, Western Australia, where she taught, exhibited and sold at the Atwell and Heathcote Galleries.

Sue also organises painting holidays to France, in conjunction with Hoteliers Rachael et Alain Savouré from Hôtel les Grands Chênes St Fargeau Burgundy.

The Plein Air Painting Programme is designed for small groups of artists to enjoy painting everything the amazing area has to offer. Including Chateau de Saint-Fargeau, Guédelon Castle (featured on BBC TV on January 21, 2015).

PLEASE SUPPORT LOCAL CHARITIES

This page is dedicated FREE to all registered Charities who wish to advertise.

To everyone in our local community.....

Local residents are being encouraged to sign up as a volunteer for the Chester Sparkle Night Walk which will take place on Friday 15th June, in aid of Hospice of the Good Shepherd

More than 75 volunteers are needed to marshall the route and help with setting up the event to ensure that all participants can take part safely.

Justin Caroe, Hospice Community Fundraiser, said: "Our Chester Sparkle Night Walk is reliant on an army of enthusiastic volunteers to be a success. Their presence is paramount to keeping it running smoothly and safely."

The Chester Sparkle Night Walk starts at Grosvenor Park and will see hundreds of walkers 'sparkle' under the stars. The 5km circular route through Chester City Centre passes iconic buildings and locations along the way including: Chester Cathedral, Eastgate Clock, Chester Racecourse and finishes within the Amphitheatre.

Justin added: "The Hospice relies on donations for the majority of its income, so events like the Chester Sparkle Night Walk are a vital way of raising funds. There is always a fantastic atmosphere, so I'd encourage everyone to come along and be part of an incredible event that helps support the only adult hospice in Chester."

The Hospice of the Good Shepherd doesn't make a charge to patients for using the services but it does cost £11,000 per day for the hospice to provide the necessary care and support.

Volunteers will need to be on-site from 7pm until around 1am depending on the role and refreshments will be provided. If you would like to volunteer your help please email fundraising@hospicegs.com or call 01244 851 811. If you are interested in taking part in the event please sign up here https://www.tickettailor.com/events/hospiceofthegoodshepherd/146159

Keeping you motoring

Kia Stonic 1.0 T-GDi '2'

I'm not sure about you – but when I first set my eyes on the Q5, I thought 'man its big' – but then as you start to look around at what else is on the road, you begin to notice that actually, it's really not that big at all, compared to its competition.

Then when you finally get behind the wheel and start driving the Q5, it actually feels no bigger than a medium-sized saloon – which to be honest for a large SUV is amazing. In reality, it is bigger - and you wouldn't have any problem fitting in mother-in-law's head. Plus, Last week my wife went to buy a new car and the salesman asked if us if we wanted a car with side airbags. I said: "No thanks. I already have a mother-in-law."

Power and Efficiency:

The Q5 I had on test was fitted with a 190PS, 2.0-litre TDI direct injection diesel engine that has 400NM of torque and can accelerate from zero-to-62 mph in 7.9 seconds and will reach a maximum top speed of around 135mph.

The Q5 is also equipped with a Stop/Start system to enhance fuel economy which all helped the Q5 return a combined figure of around 50mpg using my normal driving route – plus a bit of motorway driving. My only problem though is I don't like 'stop/start systems. Because they always seem to shut off when you don't want them too. Which is also why I'm glad my Abarth 500 doesn't have it.

I understand we need to 'save the planet' but come on – if I wanted to be irritated every time the car stopped – I would buy Peugeot.

On the road:

The steering is accurate in whatever situation unfolds itself on the road and the chassis and grip levels are all good thanks to that wonderful 'Quattro' system. The Q5 is also a very engaging drive, but you need to remember that this car is not a raw seat of your pants drive - even with the S Line & S Tronic badges nailed to the tailgate.

When you do finally find the right road to get the hammer down, the Q5 fits in perfectly with the road ahead thanks to independent suspension and a five-link axle with a front track rod, aluminium link subframe and tubular anti-roll bar at the front & rear. As I said before, the Q5 comes with that wonderful Quattro on-demand system that is designed to switch between all-wheel drive and front-wheel drive in a fraction of a second by monitoring driving dynamics, road conditions and driver behaviour. Of course, if you want to take the Q5 to a place where speed limits don't matter – then the Quattro system will be ready and on-demand to help you engage your inner demon.

Design & Technology

Equipment highlights include; Dual-circuit brake system, Antilock Braking System, Electronic Brake Force Distribution (EBD) Electronic Differential Lock (EDL) Traction Control (ASR) Electronic Stabilisation Control (ESC).

Then we move onto the inside. For a start off, there is now more headroom, legroom and cabin space on the inside compared to the previous model. Plus, Audi has used premium materials on the inside of the Q5 and nothing looks cheaply made. Then there are the controls that are set out to be as ergonomic as possible and have that quality feel to them throughout the interior.

with Q signature design, LED rear lights and dynamic indicators, Front Sport seats with 'S' embossed logo in leather/Alcantara, Inlays in Matt brushed aluminium, high multi-function 3-spoke leather steering wheel with grips in perforated leather. Gear-lever knob in black perforated leather, Illuminated door sill trims with 'S' logo, privacy glass, contrast stitching on seats, steering wheel and gear lever gaiter.

Plus, 4-way electric lumbar support, LED Interior Lighting Pack, MMI Navigation (SD card-based), Audi Connect Infotainment ServicesPlus (3-month trial – then 36-month subscription is available to purchase as part of the Technology Pack) I could go on, but I have run out of space and my editor will be pulling his hair out if I don't stop writing.

To sum up:

The Q5 is a brilliant car – but what makes it stand out from the rest is its ability to look good and drive even better. I would not rule out taking a look at the Audi Q5 in the future because it has some great features along with a good chassis and a firm sense of reliability on its side.

Create your own

Nectar-rich flowers and creature features will make your garden a magnet for wildlife nce upon a time the 'wildlife The good news is, times have garden' was something that got tucked away at the bottom of the garden. The fear was that it would look a bit scruffy and spoil the general outlook - and besides, the rest of the garden was needed for other activities such as growing vegetables and displaying prized dahlias.

moved on and today gardeners have realised that wildlife-friendly features can be incorporated everywhere. With just a little bit of thought, your garden can be good for you and for the planet. Some of the best gardens for nature are some of the most beautiful. So why not create your own nature trail?

HABITATS Bird boxes,

should be positioned in a safe, sheltered place away from daily human activity.

bug hotels and hoggy homes

GREEN UP YOUR PATION

Hard landscaping seldom offers much wildlife interest, bar a bit of lichen on the paving slabs or algae on the decking! To give your nature trail a better start, findaway to incorporate a container of pollinator-friendly wildflowers, or perhaps a bee brick, bug hotel or stook of short garden canes or hollow stems to encourage lacewings and ladybirds tohibernate.

That climber growing up the housewall is the ideal place for robins tonest each year, and perhaps adding a nestbox will encourage sparrows to move in?

PLANT NECTAR-RICH BLOOMS

Flowerbeds are usually full of spring bulbs and summer flowers. In nature, this is like an open ungrazed habitat, bathed in sunlight, where flowers grow tall.

The obvious visitors are bees and hoverflies; if we're lucky, we'll see some butterflies, too. Stop, stoop and look hard - you'll see that all that foliage provides cover and homes for many other insects, spiders and other creepy crawlies too.

Butterflies and bees will really be boosted if you choose only those plants that are stuffedwithnectar and pollen. Too many cultivated plants have lost all their goodness, so avoid double flowers (whose stamens have been bred into extrapetals) and your borders will soon be buzzing.

BUILD A POND

A garden pond might not have the wild swans and geese of the great wetlands and marshes but, wherever there is water, life will come. For many of us the highlight will be frogs and newts. If you're really lucky you'll attract toads. But evenwatching the skimming of pondskaters across the surface or the antics under the surface of water-boatmen is entertainment enough.

Even an ornamental pond will still attract colourful dragonflies and damselflies, and birdswill visit to drink and bathe.

The larger your pond, the more wildlife it's likely to support. Ponds that have shallow margins and plenty of submerged native pondweed and emergent plants will be much better than steep-sided, plant-free ponds. The water weed and some pond snails will help keep the water clear.

CREATE LEAFY COVER

Climbing plants such as honeysuckle, clematis and evergreen ivy are ideal for turning bare fences into wildlife-rich habitat. Not only do they offer plenty of shelter for nesting birds and insects, but the flowers will offer nectar and pollen, and berries in late summer.

Local Business Corfe Stone Joins UK Leader CED Stone Group

Hooton based firm Corfe Stone has been acquired by CED Stone Group, a leading family-run business with a prominent name in the UK hard landscaping industry. With five other nationwide depots, CED Stone welcomed Corfe Stone to their group as part of their exciting growth initiative.

Corfe Stone has supplied hard landscaping products such as stone paving, gravels, sands and walling to both commercial and domestic customers in the North West for over 30 years. With an extended showroom displaying their full range of products for customers to view and an 8800 square foot warehouse, Corfe Stone has always held a large presence in the local area. Helping to support other businesses in the area, they regularly refer customers to their list of recommended local contractors to carry out their installation work.

The two companies certainly have a lot of common!

CED Stone Group provides one of the most extensive range of natural stone and hard landscaping products on the market. Fulfilling the needs of an ever-changing industry, they work with a wide range of customers from architects and contractors to City Councils and RHS Garden Designers. Corfe Stone's existing staff of ten have remained at the heart of the business, bringing with them highly valuable experience, knowledge and customer relationships.

Corfe Stone has continued to trade under its own well-known and respected name, but following on from CED Stone Group's extensive company-wide re-branding, it will be transforming to CED Stone Landscape North West – Corfe Depot.

Style & elegance in the heart of the countryside

CHESTER TOWN HALL will be the venue for a Fine Art Extravaganza in June.

Local artist and lecturer Sue Farrington is excited about the two-day event which will present an opportunity for the public to buy pieces of original work direct from artists

"I teach oil painting in the North West of England," said Sue. "Over many years I have become increasingly aware of the need for artists to be able to show and sell their work directly to the public. So many of these fabulous artists have fabulous original paintings that rarely get seen.

"Art is for everyone - by joining local Art Groups, Art Classes and Art Societies or visiting galleries and exhibitions. It opens up a whole new world whatever your age.

"I have enlisted 34 other eager professional and amateur artists to display and sell their original work.

"The Fine Art Extravaganza is a two-day event which will take place on June 2 and 3, between 10.30am and 6pm on both days."

Sue specialises in oil painting and has lived, taught and exhibited in Australia, New Zealand, Borneo, Malaysia and the Philippines. It was in Borneo where Sue attended Art College.

She studied for her teaching qualification at Darwin University in the company of jackaroos, jillaroos, outback prison officers and nurses while her late husband was working on the construction of the Alice Springs to Darwin Railway Bridges.

In complete contrast her previous occupation was Piping Process Works Administrator on the installation of a new Nuclear Reactor vessel in Engadine Sydney.

Returning to the UK in 2005, Sue worked at Burton Manor, and West Cheshire College, in Handbridge, Chester.

Sue currently teaches in Chester, at Caldy Valley Church Centre, Okell's Garden Centre, Tarporley, and at the Altrincham Art Society, Manchester, and is a member of Chester's Grosvenor Art Society who hold regular exhibitions, demonstrations and workshops.

IN THE FRAME -Sue Farrington with one of her oil paintings

She also demonstrates and runs successful oil painting workshops throughout the North West and North Wales, exhibiting and selling with Silver Star Gallery.

During the English winter Sue returns to paint and exhibit in Perth, Western Australia, where she taught, exhibited and sold at the Atwell and Heathcote Galleries.

Sue also organises painting holidays to France, in conjunction with Hoteliers Rachael et Alain Savouré from Hôtel les Grands Chênes St Fargeau Burgundy.

The Plein Air Painting Programme is designed for small groups of artists to enjoy painting everything the amazing area has to offer. Including Chateau de Saint-Fargeau, Guédelon Castle (featured on BBC TV on January 21, 2015).

We encounter many animal species during our Club forgys into the great and hilly outdoors. Sheep galore, obviously, though most keep their distance. However, on a smallholding near Loggerheads there resides a very sociable flock of Jacobs sheep. One of these fields has a marvellous view of the surrounding Clwydian hills, so we sometimes use it as a lunch stop. The sheep are adept at spotting hungry hikers hauling lunch out of rucksacks and soon hoof it across to make friends. Horses occasionally check us out too. though we don't encourage them. On a recent Club walk, the public footpath took us along the edge of a meadow in which three ponies grazed happily. The field gate was tied to its post with an ancient piece of fraved and tangled rope, and it took several minutes to undo it. Our equine friends spotted us struggling to get through, thought it looked moderately amusing and trotted over for a closer look. Concerned that they might try and escape, we clanged the agte guickly shut behind us and retied it securely. The horses, it turned out, were more interested in the contents of our rucksacks than the wide world beyond their lush green home. Following us closely the full length of the field, their noses nudged our backs till we climbed the stone stile into the next field. Turning back briefly, I saw three horse faces staring wistfully at us from over the hedge.

Engaging with animals is unavoidable when using public footpaths that cross farmland. Entering a field with cows and bulls in it can be intimidating, but applying common sense is always the best course of action to ensure the safety of both walkers and livestock. Young playful bullocks sometimes gang up and try to bully (no pun intended!) hikers into abandoning a walk through their pasture. In our experience, boldly but quietly walking round them usually does the trick. One field we were passing through was occupied by a bull and his harem, and we were concerned that the bull might be overly protective of his women and hostile to our presence. In fact, it was the cows that followed us along the footpath, the bull staying put in the distance, barely glancing our way! Farm birds don't take much notice of hikers either, apart from the occasional goose bellowing as we pass by. However, who can fail to be enthralled at the sight of a family of ducks with their tiny fluffy youngsters swimming on a farm pond or a mere? This is one of the delights of a country walk that's guaranteed to trigger oohs and aahs from all who spot them.

Some less commonly seen animals are turning up on farms these days, and on the odd occasion, a long necked creature will be staring at us from over a hedge. Not knowing too much about ostriches, I haul in my natural desire to go over and say hello, and steer well clear. My knowledge of llamas and alpacas is sparse, too, though I am aware that they can hiss and spit if they feel threatened, so it's always best to stroll nonchalantly past them. During a recent alpaca experience, some of these odd-looking woolly beasts lifted their heads from the lush grass as we walked by. One of them broke wind loudly, before lowering his bored gaze and returning his attention to the far more fascinating topic of lunch. Manners may maketh man, but other creatures pay little heed to the niceties created by the human race.

Some farm residents are more gracious than others, and some are best avoided at all cost. A breed far apart from the friendly hounds that accompany other hikers on the hills is the farm dog. These can be fearsome brutes that greet approaching walkers with a deafening cacophony of barking. Thankfully, they rarely come too close, preferring to terrorize from a distance as we scurry past! There's an old saying that barking dogs seldom bite, but we don't plan on getting close enough to find out whether this is true or simply a load of old bull.

The summer season also sees a flurry of camping activity, when we pack up our tents, hook up the caravans, book B & B's and cottages, and head off to destinations slightly further afield for a few days.

Led by experienced leaders, our Sunday and Wednesday walks last approx 6 hours, so bring picnic, flask and water. These hikes cover Snowdonia and North Wales, Cheshire, Shropshire, Lancashire and Derbyshire. Sorry - no dogs or under 18s allowed on our walks.

The club runs mid-week social evenings during the winter, including supper evenings, quiz nights and the ever popular Christmas party!

Why not come and join us on a trial basis without paying the fee?
